FARMERS STANDING SOLIDLY BEHIND FIRE ANT PROGRAM IN MISS.

Farmers are standing solidly behind the fire ant control program now underway in Mississippi. A survey of possible effects on Mississippi wildlife is being conducted by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, which contradicts all charges that wildlife is being threatened. Here's what the Alabama survey revealed.

Stevens, a quail hunter himself, is convinced that sportsmen have nothing to worry about as far as eradication of game is concerned. While a survey of possible effects on Mississippi wildlife is being conducted by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, which contradicts all charges that wildlife is being threatened. Here's what the Alabama survey revealed.

179 of the 805 farmers polled said they believed the fire ant to be detrimental to farming operations.

770 reported treatment cleared up an infestation.

This group owned 318,903 acres of the 48,931 acres on which eradication work had been done.

Only 9 reported any damage to domestic livestock; 789 reported no such damage.

Wildlife damage was reported by 16; while 783 said they had not heard of any damage to wildlife.

All except one of the 805 farmers polled said the fire ant eradication program should be continued.

On the other hand, Stevens reports, let's look at the damage done by fire ants. On his Natchez County farm, Stevens has tried unsuccessfully to eradicate the ants on his own. His farm is still beyond the perimeter of the local, state, federal eradication program which is currently fanning out from the Gulf Coast area where the pest made its appearance.

He reports that this Spring he had 60 acres of wild winter peas that under normal circumstances would have yielded some $3,000 worth of peas—but because of the fire ant mounds, Stevens had to turn cattle into the field to graze the vines and thereby lost the pea crop.

This summer and fall, Stevens said additional infested counties will be seeking matching funds from county supervisors and these facts need to be known by the public so the extent of fire ant damage will not be underestimated.

Miss. Farm Bureau Voices Opposition To Check-off On Wool Sales

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation has voiced opposition to the "compulsory" provision of a one-cent per pound check-off on wool sales which would be used for advertising and sales promotion.

This "check-off" feature under the Wool Act violates the basic principle of individual freedom of choice, the Farm Bureau said, and further, it uses the force of the federal government to compel growers to contribute to a program which many of them do not wish to support.

Stevens reminds that the Secretary of Agriculture now has authority to require the check-off under Section 709 of the National Wool Act of 1954. The agreement was made in 1955 even though only about 15% of the growers voted for the check-off in a referendum at that time. The great majority did not vote at all.

Now that the Act of 1954 has been extended for three more years, the Secretary will conduct another referendum during September to determine if producers want to continue this compulsory check-off. A "no" vote on the check-off will not change the present incentive payment program except that it will give producers an additional one cent per pound on all their wool.

Stevens said the question of whether lamb and wool should be promoted is not at issue, but rather how such programs should be financed and conducted. It is a fact, he said, however that while more than 8 million dollars was check-off for this purpose in the years 1955-57, here's what happened:

day by the Mississippi Employment Security Commission indicate there are more job openings for Mississippians than there were this same time last year.

Figures for June show that 9,992 job openings were received by the Employment Security Commission for the month and that 8,172 of these were filled on referrals from MESC local offices.

For the January-June period, 63,467 job openings were received by the Employment Security Commission for the month and that 47,047 last year. On job placements, MESC filled 53,603 jobs during the first six-months of this year and 38,986 for the same period in 1956.

In agricultural placements, always heavy during farming season, 546,953 placements were made on a day to day basis, to meet demands from individual farmers for the January-June period this year. During the same time for 1956 there were 456,819 man-days work reported.

During the first six months of 1957 the Mississippi Employment Security Commission found jobs for 1,303 handicapped workers and ex-servicemen.

Mississippi Employment Security Commission reports on the first six-months of 1959 show that 15,396 counseling interviews—guiding youths who have not selected vocations and workers who are changing fields of employment—were conducted from January to June. There were 6,838 counseling interviews for the same period in 1958.

IRRIGATION ADDS TO PROFITS FROM WINTER GRAZING

State College, Miss.—Irrigating farm forage crops paid off in a three-year experiment despite the fact that rainfall appeared adequate during most of the period. Oats and barley were the two crops included in the tests, at the Pontotoc Branch Experiment Station. Oats gave a higher daily average gain per steer but barely had a greater carrying capacity.

Without irrigation, oats produced an average of 240 pounds of beef per acre at a pasture cost of $34.21 per acre. This returned $20.92 per acre. On the irrigated oat plot, the beef production was 294 pounds per acre. Irrigation boosted pasture costs to $40.21 but returns went up to $28.10 per acre.

With barley, the story was about the same. Without irrigation, this crop produced 239 pounds of beef per acre, at a pasture cost of $34.31, and returned $23.94 above pasture cost. With irrigation barley produced 311 pounds of beef per acre at a cost of $40.31 and returned $30.51.

Steers off irrigated lots were of better quality and sold at a higher price per pound than those of non-irrigated areas. This helped to account for the difference in returns.

The most advantageous time for irrigation was in the fall of 1956 when it was used at planting time. Drought delayed germination in the non-irrigated plots so much that crops were not ready for grazing until January 14.

The complete report, by E. N. Graham of the Pontotoc Station, is published in the July issue of Mississippi Farm Research available on request at the Experiment Station at State College.

Insured Employment Down 39.1% From Last Year Revealed

Employment statistics released by Mississippi's Employment Security Commission for June show that insured unemployment is down 39.1 from last year.

Insured unemployment for a given week is defined as the number of individuals filing claims for unemployment benefits during that particular week. At the same time, Marx Huff, executive director for MESC pointed out that applications from job seekers were running considerably below last year.

New applications for work numbered 11,998 in June and totaled 33,296 for the January-June period this year as compared to 10,117 for last June and 37,023 for the same six-months in last year.

Under insured unemployment, there were 12,261 workers reported in this classification this June which is 601 below May of this year and 4,794 less than the June 1956 average.

SMALLER EGGS

You're probably noticing more "medium" size eggs in your grocery stores. This comes along as new flocks of layers come into production. When you find the price of medium eggs 7 cents or more below the price of large eggs, the mediums are the best buy.

BUYING OR BUILDING A HOME

In setting up the financing plan for your home, be sure to leave enough money in savings to meet family emergencies. Three months salary is a good amount. Don't try less than two months. It isn't safe.

The money you can spare from savings plus what you can borrow is the amount you can plan to pay for a home. Families usually can afford a house that costs about 2½ times their gross annual income.

In your budget allow for regular monthly payments not only on the money you borrow but also on the interest charges on the loan. Don't forget to add taxes and insurances.

I will appreciate your support in the coming primary.

The life of your house depends on wood...

it holds the house together!

That's a fact—whether it's a wood brick veneer or linoleum. And the lasting soundness and wearability of the entire house is affected by the quality of the lumber used in the hidden framework. That's why we back and recommend S-P-B Grade-Marked Southern Pine. It's stronger because it's seasoned. All lumber isn't, so whether you're buying or building yourself, be sure it's bought from us. You'll feel more secure, just knowing it is.

CANDIDATE FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE . . .

TO THE PEOPLE OF BEAT FIVE:

The tremendous support of 1187 votes I received in the 1st Primary Election, placing me as the Leading Candidate for Justice of the Peace in the 2nd Primary, certainly is convincing of my many friends and their display of confidence in my pledges to operate a FAIR AND HONORABLE COURT OF JUSTICE.

I most humbly thank each and everyone of you and ask that you continue to support me so that I will be elected on August 25th. Will you please contact your friends requesting everybody to rally to my support with their influence and vote.

Especially do I now call on my fellow Veterans, who have served their country as I have, to solicit support for me making it possible for me to continue serving our country by serving our community.

I repeat that I will always strive to elevate this Office of Justice of the Peace to one of dignity and honor. Also that I will continue my efforts in behalf of the betterment of conditions for our youth.

I DEFINITELY FEEL E A C H CITIZEN SHOULD VOTE THEIR OWN CONVICTIONS and that their vote be cast UPON THE QUALIFICATIONS OF A CANDIDATE so that our community can be best served. You be the Judge and Judge the Candidate for yourselves. I know you will find I have these necessary qualifications.

You have placed me in the position of leading Candidate in the Second Primary. I earnestly and humbly ask that you continue to endorse me to a successful conclusion by electing me with your influence and support now and Your Vote on August 25th.

Thanking You Sincerely,
RUSSELL ELLIOTT.

With only eight returning lettermen and a large group of reserves and Junior High graduates there should be a great amount of competition for a position on the first team this fall. Effect on Mails Discontinuance of the L. & N. train on August 5 is expected to effect Coast railway express shipments and mail shipments very little, express and post office of fields said. Mail shipments will be shifted to other trains. Trains which will be removed are the 2:53 a. m. train to New Orleans and the 10:07 p. m. train to Cincinnati. C. A. Washer, Biloxi, Railway Express Agent, said that traffic formerly received and forwarded on the number 4 train at 10:07 will now be handled on number 33 at 11:00. The change would possibly result in better service, he pointed out, since traffic from New Orleans would be received at night instead of the next morning. E. V. Shore, postmaster, said that mail from New Orleans formerly put on the number 4 train would be shipped on the number 6 train instead, with very little time difference. Mail formerly shipped to New Orleans on number 1 will be put on number 33 at 5:55 a. m. Railway express has never used the number 1 train. Washer pointed out.

a nifty ball handler and better than average passer. The line will be light but fast including Gerald Favre, Milton Bernard, at the end position, Wayne Alliston and Floyd Christy as guards and Jim Mayfield at center. All home games will begin at eight p. m. on the respective dates.

TO THE VOTERS OF HANCOCK COUNTY:

The fine votes you good people gave me in the first primary has really given me great confidence and I deeply thank you.

To you people who saw fit to vote for one of my opponents in the first primary I humbly ask you to vote for me in the second primary.

Please do not forget me on August 25th. when you can go the polls and elect Sylvester S. Moran your next Tax Assessor.

Respectfully,
SYLVESTER S. MORAN.

Attention Please!

Fred J. Bourgeois

Sincerely solicits your vote and support in the second Primary, August 25, 1959.

I think that YOU, the majority, of the People of Beat 5, realize that a change of Supervisor would be beneficial to our beat and relieve the situation that now exists.

I want to impress on you that I, FRED BOURGEOIS, am willing to help you with your problems, as I have said before, your trouble will be my trouble.

Through my own observation the funds that are allocated to Beat 5, have been very poorly managed. The Seawall has been very poorly kept and is certainly an example of how wasteful these funds have been spent. Sections of the Seawall Road that were started were never really completed.

Approximately Seventy-five Thousand Dollars ($75,000) of your tax money which was spent on the Sand Beaches less than a year ago are two thirds gone, because no retainer walls were built to protect your investment.

If elected I will do all I can to solve the drainage problems. There is only one way to get anything accomplished and that is the RIGHT WAY.

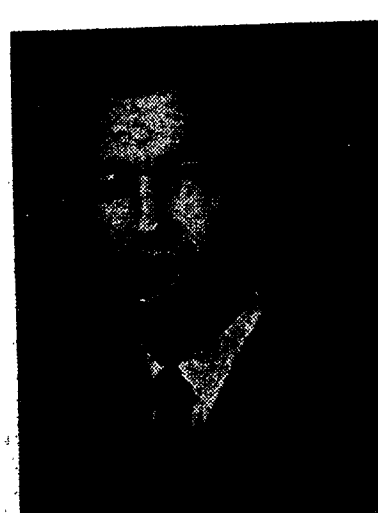

If I need assistance in solving this drainage problem a local engineer in Hancock County will help with this.

VOTE (X) FOR FRED J. BOURGEOIS

And you will be glad you did!

This ad paid for by friends who have faith in Fred Bourgeois.
Submitted to and approved by Fred Bourgeois.

"Thank You"

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to the many friends and voters of Hancock County for the splendid vote given me in the first Primary Election because of your help it is possible for me to enter the Second Primary as a candidate for County Superintendent of Education. Your vote and influence in the August 25th election is earnestly solicited and genuinely appreciated.

CORN HARVESTING TIPS

Harvest corn early, but not before it is dry enough for safe storage. If you harvest by hand, reap the corn at 16 percent moisture or less. If you plan to sell the corn through elevators, break it clean of stems, faulty ears or stalks. Corn is usually bought on a shelled corn basis and stalks will lower the shelling capacity of shelling equipment, causing waste of corn and time. If you are planning to crush the corn, clean picking is not as important. For harvesting with a corn picker, harvest at 16 to 20 percent moisture, preferably not more than 18 percent. Ear corn harvested at 18 percent moisture or above may need drying before storing. Store at 16 percent moisture or less.

If you plan to harvest your corn with a picker sheller or combine picker head, you can get higher field efficiency at a higher moisture content (up to 25 percent) than at a moisture content considered safe for storage. But drying facilities will be necessary. For safe storage, moisture content of shelled corn should be 12 percent or less and definitely not more than 14 percent.

Proper adjustment of all mechanical harvesting equipment is essential to assure a good job of harvesting. Use the operator's manual. Observe all safety rules.

CATTLE GRUB CONTROL

Don't wait until grubs begin to show up in backs of cattle to do something about them. Right now they are in the bodies of the animals - either in the gullet or around the spinal column. Use some of the newer systemic materials to get rid of these pests.

SHEEP NOTES

It is time now to make some plans for next winter and spring grazing for lambs and sheep. Follow part of the small grain area. Followed land will provide grazing four to six weeks earlier than non-fallowed land.

Now looks like a good time to get into the sheep business as lamb prices are likely to remain stable for the next few years. Wool prices should also remain fairly high.

Prices may remain low enough in the fall for this to be a good year to bring in western feeder sheep, to be finished for early spring markets.

CATTLE

National Farm Safety Week has come and gone. But this is not the time to forget about safety. Farm safety is a day-by-day, year around job.

Farm safety week was merely a time set aside to remind us of our year-round responsibilities. Remember this, now and always, Safety Makes Sense.

CALF CROP SLIGHTLY SMALLER THAN IN 1958

The 1959 calf crop in Mississippi is expected to total 1,073,000 head. This is slightly less than the 1,075,000 head born in 1958, but is 27 per cent more than the 10-year (1948-57) average of 846,000 head. The number of cows and heifers 2 years old and over on Jan. 1, 1959, was 1,431,000 head, 3 per cent less than the 1,473,000 on hand a year earlier, but 24 per cent above the 10-year average number for Mississippi. The expected number of calves born or to be born in 1959 expressed as a percentage of cows and heifers 2 years old and over on January 1, 1959, is 75 per cent. This is 2 per cent higher than last year.

Favre-Bradley Wedding

Miss Norma Louise Bradley and Lawrence J. Favre, Jr. were married Thursday, July 30, in a double ceremony at St. Paul's Catholic Church in Pass Christian.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. W. J. Bradley, Pass Christian. Mr. Favre is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Favre, Sr., Bay St. Louis. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, W. J. Bradley.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and fern and white candelabra. On the altar were white lilies and fern in gold vases.

Robert Bates, organist, played appropriate nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. Miss Sharon Stidivant, soloist, sang "The Rosary."

The bride wore a ballerina-length wedding gown of white tulle and lace over white satin. It was designed with a fitted bodice featuring a Sabrina neckline and sleeves. Her finger-ring veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She wore white lace gloves, and her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls. She carried a white prayer book on which was placed a corsage of fleur-de-lis and satin ribbons.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of

F. H. A. HOME COMMITTEEMAN IS RE-APPOINTED

William Ladner of Rt. 2, Perkinston, Miss., has been reappointed as County Committeeman for Farmers Home Administration of Hancock County. This appointment is for three years and started July 1, 1959. He was appointed in July, 1956 to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Thomas W. Lissett after his death.

Ladner has operated a successful Grade A Dairy Farm at Ne-casse Crossing for 18 years. According to Mr. Ladner he got his initial start by receiving a loan from this organization of which he purchased 15 dairy cows and has now increased his herd to 50 cows. He owns 227 acres of land with 80 acres of it being in improved bahia grass. He plants an additional 30 acres of oats every year.

Max Stone, local county supervisor for F.H.A. says that Ladner's practical experience enables him to make a real contribution to the County Committeeman's actions when they receive loan applications. Serving with Ladner during the coming year will be Horatio Harrel, a dairyman of Sellers Community and Russell Chapman, associated with Hancock Bank of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

There is a Farmers Home Administration County Committee serving every agricultural county in the country. All loan applications must be approved by the committee before funds can be advanced. The Committee also helps the County Supervisor adapt the agency's loan policies and services to local conditions.

The Farmers Home Administration makes loans to farmers to buy livestock and machinery, to finance annual operating costs to improve buildings and fences and to purchase land.

The agency also lends money to farmers or their non-profit associations to establish and carry out approved soil and water conservation practices, as well as for installing and improving irrigation and farmstead water supply facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Necaise, Clarence Avenue, Pass Christian. The couple was assisted in receiving by their parents. White chrysanthemums and fern were used to decorate the reception rooms.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom standing under a garland of flowers. Fern and other greenery encircled the cake.

Mrs. Dennis H. Cuevas, aunt and godmother of the bride, served the cake. Sisters of the bride, Miss Charlotte Bradley, Miss Gayle Bradley, Mrs. Edward Dreier, Mrs. John D. Ladner and Mrs. Lawrence Necaise served the punch.

After the reception the couple left on a wedding trip. For traveling, Mrs. Favre selected a navy blue sheath dress, white accessories, blue matching hat, and the corsage from her prayer book.

Mrs. Favre was graduated with honors from Pass Christian High School in 1959. Mr. Favre attended Bay High School and is presently serving a six-month tour of active duty with the U.S. Army. He is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.
